How the Pall-Ex model works

The Pall-Ex network allows service users to distribute consignments, ranging from single pallets to part and full trailer-loads, throughout the world.

Pall-Ex members collect freight from their local customer-base throughout the day.

They consolidate the freight onto larger vehicles and drive to one of Pall-Ex's three hub locations. There freight is sorted and loaded on to the vehicle of the network member responsible for the destination postcode.

FREIGHT STAYS IN THE PALL-EX HUB FOR LESS THAN 24 HOURS

We have successfully replicated this model throughout Europe to enhance our service offering. Whether it is one quarter pallet or a full trailer load, we can support your business needs.

"Pall-Ex doesn't just offer a quality logistics solution, they offer a partnership."

Our account manager is always on hand and our bespoke KPI's help us to present our delivery stats to the rest of the board."

BREAKDOWN OF OPERATION

1. Collection and consolidation

Customers' freight is collected and consolidated at each member depot.

2. Inbound line-haul to the Pall-Ex hub

Each member depot line hauls their consolidated inbound freight to the Pall-Ex hub daily, to arrive by a pre-designated time.

3. Cross-dock sortation at the hub

At the Pall-Ex hub all the freight is sorted. Outbound freight is re-loaded for outbound line-haul back to the member depot. They must then leave by a pre-designated time.

4. Customer delivery

The freight then arrives at the members depot. The delivery freight is offloaded and then delivered to the end customer as required.
